DRUNKEN REBELS RUSH INTO DOUGLAS FLEE FROM THE TROOPS

Soldiers of Diaz Capture First Rebel Line and Continue Their Advance Into Rebel Stronghold at Aqua Prieta, and the Rebels Flee Across Border.

LEADER GARCIA SURRENDERS

American Troops Prepare to Patrol International Boundary Line and Check Mad Stampede of Insurrectionists—Governor Sloan Wires President Taft, Urging Drastic Measures to Protect Lives of Citizens—Executive Replies to Sloan's Appeal.

Douglas, Ariz., April 18.—Having captured the first rebel line, the federal troops are continuing their advance on Agua Prieta. Antonio Garcia, a rebel leader, surrendered to United States troops. "Red" Lopez and many rebels under arms are now parading the streets of Douglas. The Mexican consul protested that they should be arrested.

It is believed the rebels got hold of mesal with the usual result. They are sneaking across the line in large numbers and are mingling with their sympathizers on this side of the line. American troops are massing in Fourth street, prepared to patrol the boundary line.

Governor Sloan sent a long telegram to President Taft on the gravity of the situation. This was done before the rebels began to surrender.

The streets of Douglas are crowded and special policemen will be used to maintain order. Upon a signal from the Copper Queen smelter all the saloons will be closed on a moment's notice, provided this precaution is deemed advisable. If Colonel Shunk takes the advice of Governor Sloan, the entire American force will be used to patrol the boundary and be prepared to disarm all Mexicans that cross the line.

URGES MORE CAUTION

President Taft Gives Reasons For Moving Slowly.

Washington, April 18.—That President Taft fears that it may be necessary for him to order American troops across the American border and that he is apprehensive that it may be necessary ultimately for the United States to intervene in revolution-ridden Mexico, is indicated in a telegram sent by the president to Governor Sloan of Arizona.

The president's telegram was forwarded in reply to a telegram from Governor Sloan, who wired that five persons in Douglas, Ariz., were wounded during the fight between the federal troops and the revolutionists. Governor Sloan expressed the fear that there would be more casualties upon the resumption of the engagement today.

Governor Sloan informed the president that conditions in and around Douglas were acute, and he added: "Can anything be done to relieve the situation?"

The president's reply follows: "Your dispatch received. Have made urgent demand on Mexican government to use means to prevent firing across the border by Mexican federal troops and am awaiting reply. Meantime I have sent direct warning to Mexican insurgent forces near Douglas. I infer from your dispatch that both parties attempt to heed the warnings but in the strained expectancy of the contest wild bullets will find their way into Douglas. The situation might justify me in ordering our troops across the border and attempt to stop fighting or to fire upon both combatants from the American side, but if I take this step must face the possibility of resistance and greater bloodshed and also the danger of having our motives misconstrued and misrepresented and of inflaming the Mexican popular in-ignation against many thousands of Americans now in Mexico and jeopardizing their lives and property. The pressure for general intervention under such conditions might not be practical to resist. It is impossible to foresee or reckon the consequences of such a course and we must use the greatest self-restraint to avoid it.

"Pending my urgent representations to the Mexican government, I can not therefore order the troops at Douglas to cross the border, but I would ask you and the local authorities, in case the same danger seems certain to direct that the people of Douglas place themselves where bullets can not reach them and thus avoid casualties. I am loath to endanger Americans in Mexico when they are necessarily exposed by taking a radical step to prevent injuries to Americans on our side of the border who can avoid it by a temporary inconvenience."

CREIGHTON REPORTED KILLED

Rumor Reaches Border That American Fell at Bauche.

El Paso, Tex., April 18.—It is reported here that Oscar Creighton, the dare-devil soldier of fortune, has lost his life fighting with the rebels. The young American was formerly a New York broker. He was killed in the battle at Bauche Saturday.

LAWRENCE LANGDON

Says Utilities Bill Has Been Tampered With.

REPRESENTATIVE LANGDON TAKES THE WARPATH

Wants to Know Who Changed Winters Utilities Bill.

Columbus, O., April 18.—Representative Langdon is busy investigating the cause of serious errors in the printed copies of the Winters public utilities bill.

The bill has been reprinted twice since the house passed it, and each time there were serious errors in that portion relating to the issuance of stocks and bonds.

The first printed copy omitted the entire section. The second printed copy contained the section, but it was so mangled into a shape which would be quite satisfactory to the corporations.

Under Langdon's amendment the issuance of bonds was limited to cover the expenditure of money actually used in construction or maintenance. The amendment printed in the second copy would give the corporations the right to issue bonds for any purpose up to 1913. Under this amendment corporations could issue bonds in any amount the stockholders could put the money in their pockets and the public would have to pay the bill in increased rates for service.

Commoner Turns Down "Joe" Bailey

Bryan Refuses to Talk Tariff With Senator Bailey.

Fort Worth, Tex., April 18.—William J. Bryan emphatically and a trifle sarcastically refused to debate with Senator Joseph W. Bailey on the tariff question. The challenge was delivered by Gus Shaw of Texas, the former candidate for governor, who agreed to finance the debate. The latter is a strong supporter of Bailey and said all of Bailey's friends want a joint debate between the Nebraska and the Texas. Bryan in reply to the challenge, said: "I am perfectly able to direct my own course in regard to such matters without any aid whatsoever. I can not consider the proposition."

Prominent Figures In the Lorimer Bribery Scandal.

Edward Hines, millionaire lumber merchant, is said by Clarence S. Funk, general manager of the International Harvester company, to have approached him and asked him to give $100,000 toward a $100,000 fund with which to pay for Lorimer's election to the United States senate. The story was disclosed by H. H. Kohlsaat, proprietor of a Chicago newspaper. State Attorney Wayman is probing the charge with a view to bringing criminal prosecution. Hines denies Funk's accusation.

DENOUNCES SPECIAL SESSION

Harrison of New York and Peters of Massachusetts Take Opposite View From Michigan Congressman—Lenroot, Wisconsin Insurgent, Makes Bitter Remarks About Trade Agreement With Canada—Crumpacker of Indiana Supports Measure.

Washington, April 18.—As a result of the campaign instituted against the "leave to print" privilege by Representative Clark of Florida, it is probable that general debate on the Canadian reciprocity measure will run longer than was expected and there will not be a vote on the measure until Thursday or Friday. Incidentally it looks very much as if the "leave to print" proposition—which means simply that a member can insert in the Congressional Record as a speech any amount of written matter delivered in the house or not—were doomed. Mr. Clark and other members demand that "not delivered in the house" be printed in big black type at the head of every contribution to the record that is not actually spoken on the floor. As a result of numerous objections members who had contemplated delivering a few introductory sentences and then securing permission to "extend" are much stirred up. Some of them are practicing real eloquence at home.

Representative Fordney of Michigan, a stand-patter of stand-patters, opened the debate in the house on the Canadian reciprocity bill. He declared that the calling of the special session by President Taft was unjustified attacking the New England "give us everything we'll concede nothing" attitude and defending the customs rate in the Payne-Aldrich bill.

Mr. Fordney was followed by Representatives Harrison of New York and Peters of Massachusetts, both of whom spoke in favor of the Canadian pact. Representative Lenroot of Wisconsin, a Republican insurgent, followed Mr. Peters in opposition to the reciprocity measure, reviewing the familiar arguments against the enactment of the pending legislation.

Representative Crumpacker of Indiana, the lone minority member from the Hoosier state, was the first Republican to support the reciprocity measure. He had a small audience, most of the members of the house having gone home to dinner.

SENATORS SHOW HANDS

Indicates Easy Sailing For Direct Election Resolution. Washington, April 18.—There was a showing of hands in the senate on the question of the popular election of senators. It came upon the question of reference to a committee of the senate of the resolution coming over from the house which proposes a constitutional amendment providing for the election of senators by popular vote. The vice president referred the resolution to the committee on privileges and elections. This was regarded by many as a slap at the judiciary committee, which handled a similar resolution in the last session.

Later Senator Culberson moved to reconsider the action by which the resolution was referred to the committee on privileges and elections. The motion to reconsider prevailed, the Democrats and 12 insurgent Republicans voting together for Senator Culberson's motion and the regulars voting in opposition thereto.

The effect of the adoption of Senator Culberson's motion was to recall the resolution from the committee on resolutions and privileges and bring it to the senate again. Senator Culberson then entered a motion to refer the matter to the judiciary committee, but an objection being made, this motion had to go over and will be taken up and disposed of when the senate meets Thursday. The vote showed that the Democrats and insurgents voting together are in control of the situation as regards the direct election of senators and will be able to work out their plans with respect to the final disposition of the resolution.

Warm Time Is Promised

Washington, April 18.—The annual convention of the Daughters of the American Revolution, which met here yesterday, got down to business this morning. President Scott in her annual address, declared it was the ancestors of the Daughters of the American Revolution "who, although they little realized it, were preparing the way for the greatest peace movement possible" for after the American revolution the question of war or peace rested ultimately with the people.

The chief interest centers in the election of the society's officers, which will take place on Thursday. The campaign is an unusually one.

EXCEEDS INCOME BY MILLION

State Auditor Fullington Furnishes Figures to Show Condition of the State's Strong Box—Propose to Subsidize Electric Lines From Columbus to Daily Industrial Home. From Lenroot, Wisconsin, Scents Attempt to Tamper With Utilities Bill.

Columbus, O., April 18.—A deficit loomed in prospect for the state treasury if the assembly passes the general appropriation bill offered in the house by Chairman Goodbread of the house finance committee. It carries a total of $1,224,416.59 to be appropriated this year. Together with special and other finance measures so far passed, the allowances for the year would be $3,229,407.77, an excess over the last year of $237,337.09.

State Auditor Fullington estimates income for the year at $8,500,000. There is no provision in the bill for canals, women's reformatory, or a new country prison. An allowance of $100,000, however, is made to continue the rebuilding of the present penitentiary.

The prison probe committee has recommended an immediate appropriation of $500,000 for a country prison. Governor Harmon, however, has indicated his purpose to veto any measure which means the abandonment of reconstruction plans already begun.

The appropriation measure provides for the appointment by the governor of a commission of three persons, not to be confirmed by the senate, and to serve without compensation, and which is authorized to enter into a contract with any electric railway company for the construction of a line of electric railway from Dublin, Franklin county, to or near the Girls' Industrial school in Delaware county. The sum of $50,000 is to be paid said electric railway company upon vouchers signed by said commission at such times and upon such terms as shall be agreed upon between the commission and such electric railway company and approved by the attorney general.

Mr. Friebohn of Cuyahoga county introduced a bill providing for the commission form of municipal government, when approved by referendum, after petition for an election signed by 25 per cent of the voters.

Mr. Day of Ross introduced a resolution providing for a joint committee of ten to investigate the charges against Judge Donnelly.

Trial A Mere Formal Matter

Defense in Heidemann Case Know Conviction Is Certain.

Freehold, N. J. April 18.—Few questions were asked witnesses for the state by counsel for Frank E. Heidemann, the German florist, whose trial for the murder of 10-year-old Marie Smith at Ashbury Park, Nov. 9 last, is under way, indicating that the lawyers appointed by the court. Former Judge William T. Hoffman and A. J. C. Stokes, consider the fight a hopeless one. When the indictment was read by Prosecutor John S. Applegate, Jr., charging Heidemann with slaying the child, Heidemann, with his elbows on the table, covered his face with his handkerchief and both hands and wept audibly.

POST AND DENVER PLACED IN SAME DISTRICT WILL BE STRONGLY REPUBLICAN, TOO

If Present Plan to Gerrymander the State is Finally Adopted—Fayette County is Placed in a New Eighth District, Making the Election of Both to Congress Impossible, and of Either One a Remote Possibility.

There has been a great deal of speculation since the last census and the last election as to just how many representatives to Congress Ohio would have under the new apportionment to be made by Congress and just what the Ohio legislature would do in redistricting the state.

There have already been several plans suggested as the one which would ultimately be adopted by the Ohio solons. The latest seems to be that a reapportionment plan that gives Ohio Republicans nine districts and Democrats 12 has been submitted to the Ohio Democratic congressmen at Washington by members of the federal relations committee of the lower branch of the Ohio legislature.

It is stated that the committee has not passed formally on the plan, but it is understood efforts will be made to have it approved and enacted into law if the congressmen agree to it.

DIVISION OF DISTRICTS

First—East side Hamilton county.
Second—West side Hamilton.
Third—Butler and Montgomery.
Fourth—Pike, Miami, Darke, Shelby, Champaign, Logan and Mercer.

Fifth—Auglaize, Harding, Allen, Van Wert, Putnam and Paulding.
Sixth—Defiance, Williams, Fulton, Henry, Wood, Hancock and Sandusky.

Seventh—Clermont, Brown, Adams, Highland, Pike, Ross, Vinton, Pickaway and Hocking.
Eighth—Warren, Greene, Clinton, FAYETTE, CLARK and MADISON.

Ninth—Lucas and Ottawa.
Tenth—Scioto, Jackson, Gallia, Lawrence, Meigs and Athens.

Eleventh—Fairfield, Perry, Morgan, Monroe, Noble and Guernsey.
Twelfth—Franklin.

Thirteenth—Erie, Huron, Seneca, Wyandotte, Crawford, Morrow, Marion and Delaware.

Fourteenth—Richland, Ashland, Wayne, Holmes and Stark.
Fifteenth—Knox, Licking, Coshocton, Muskingum and Tuscarawas.

Sixteenth—Columbiana, Carroll, Jefferson, Harrison and Belmont.
Seventeenth—Ashtabula, Trumbull and Mahoning.

Eighteenth—Lorain, Medina, Summit and Portage.
Nineteenth—West side Cuyahoga.

Twentieth—East side Cuyahoga.
Twenty-first—Lake, Geauga and remainder of Cuyahoga.

As is to be expected this plan is not satisfactory to all Congressmen, notably Mr. Post of this city, and Mr. Denver, of Wilmington, both of whom, if this gerrymander goes through, will be placed in the same district and an overwhelming Republican district at that making the return of both to Congress impossible and of either an exceedingly remote possibility.

Mr. Claypool, of the Chillicothe district is given by this plan a strong Democratic district and his followers are of course, heartily in favor of the plan.

COLLISION BETWEEN TWO AUTOS

Monday evening a collision between autos driven by U. G. Wissler, of Paint township, and Chauffeur Carson, who was driving Attorney F. A. Chaffin's car, took place at the intersection of Court and Fayette streets.

Carson was going west on the street and Wissler came up South Fayette street and was in the act of turning east on Court when the cars came together with a crash, breaking the lights from both machines and otherwise slightly injuring them. No one was injured.

The need of an ordinance prohibiting autos from making sharp turns at the street intersections was again made apparent by the collision Monday. Not enough care is exercised in this city considering the large number of machines and the amount of traffic.

ROBBERS ENTER SEVEN CARS

Sunday morning the discovery was made that seven box cars on the C. H. & D. siding in Chillicothe, had been broken into during the previous night, and goods removed from some of the cars. C. About two o'clock Sunday morning the entire village of Sedalia, just over the line in Madison county, was threatened with destruction by a large conflagration which completely destroyed the John Ellsworth livery barn together with a number of buggies, harness, grain, etc.

The citizens of the little village were aroused by the fire alarm just before the clock chimed two, and within a few minutes dozens of persons were running toward a continually increasing blaze in the Ellsworth livery barn located well up in the main part of town, and the work of saving the other buildings commenced, as the barn was beyond the hope of saving even a small part of it.

Bucket brigades were formed and the villagers worked heroically to keep the fire from spreading. The wind coming from the west, favored

FUNERAL OF AUGUSTUS DOYLE

Mr. Augustus Doyle, one of the old residents of this city, and for many years engaged in the buying and selling of cattle in Fayette and neighboring counties, was laid to rest in the Washington cemetery Monday afternoon.

Rev. W. I. Campbell conducted a very brief and simple service at the Presbyterian church at two o'clock.

Mr. Doyle had died at the home of his son, John Doyle, above Bloomingburg, and the funeral procession drove down from there, leaving the residence at 11:30 a. m.

Mr. Frank Doyle, a son from St. Marysville, and Mr. and Mrs. John Doyle, were accompanied on their long drive by a large number of neighbors and friends and Undertaker Klever.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. John Tway, James Perrill, Homer Hutson, Ed Klever, Mart L. McCoy, Mr. Thomas.

There were many beautiful flowers sent by relatives and friends.

The deceased was 79 years of age. He left our city four months ago to make his home with his son, John, and was taken ill soon after.

His last illness was made peaceful by the devoted care of his son and son's wife.

Everett Kneisley, the seven-year-old lad who was injured in the dynamite explosion on the Hopkins farm east of this city, March 18th, when Pearl Kneisley, uncle of the boy, was blown to atoms, was removed to the hospital in Cincinnati last week where the injured eye was removed.

Dr. J. P. Howell accompanied the lad and assisted in the work. The injured eye failed to become better after the injury, and the sight was found to be hopelessly destroyed. The pain was so great that removal of the eye was all that could be done to relieve the little fellow's sufferings. He is recovering from the shock and operation very rapidly.

SIMON WISSLER ESTATE IS APPORTIONED AMONG SIX CHILDREN

Will of Well-known Former Paint Township Resident Probated Yesterday—Instrument Made Nov. 25, 1908, and if Heir Contest Will the Bequest is Withdrawn.

Monday the last will and testament of Simon Wissler, late of Paint township, was probated, and his large estate was bequeathed to six of his seven children, being almost equally divided among them.

The will was made on November 25, 1908, and witnessed by C. Chas. Wissler and Isaac Roush. Two sons, Ulysses G. Wissler and J. A. Wissler were made executors and trustees of the estate.

After providing for the payment of all debts and funeral expenses, Mr. Wissler bequeathed his entire estate, both personal and real property to six of his seven children, Ulysses G., Jesse, J. A., Clarence, of this county; Alice Dixon, of Mt. Sterling, John, of Montana and Elmira Watts, of Missouri. Susan Yates, the seventh child, living in Columbus, did not share in the distribution, as the will alleged that she had drawn various amounts at different times, the said amounts aggregating more than her share in the estate.

The personal property was divided ed share and share alike, with the exception of the big hall clock and a pair of stock scales. The clock is to remain in the old homestead as long as it is in possession of the heirs, and to be disposed of when the house is sold or becomes the property of others, as the heirs may see fit. The scales are to be used jointly by all the heirs and all must contribute toward their up-keep.

Mrs. Anna Wissler, the wife, with whom the deceased had not been living since 1899, was at that time given a life estate in 119 acres, and this is apportioned among the children, who are required to pay certain amounts during the life of Mrs. Wissler. The real estate was divided as follows:

Jesse, 44.53 acres; Alice Dixon, 19.32; Ulysses G., 44.56; John, 51.05; Clarence, 52.88; Elmira Watts, 52.77; J. A., 53.03.

The Wisslers belong to one of Fayette county's best known families, and much interest attaches to the disposition of the estate. The Wissler homestead, a large old-time brick structure, is one of the landmarks in Paint township.

Attorney W. B. Rogers, of this city drew the will and conducted the proceedings in the Probate court on Monday morning, when the will was read and probated.

Grand Jury Returns Three Indictments

The grand jury completed its work this morning returning three (true bills), one of which has not been made public. In all over 34 witnesses were examined, covering six cases, and three indictments were returned, the other three being ignored. Mr. Henry Brownell was the foreman, and the jury was in session from Monday morning until near noon today.

One indictment was returned against Alfred Green, of near Buena Vista, who was bound over for receiving stolen goods. In this case, which was up before Mayor Allen several weeks ago, Ollie Green, son of Alfred Green, was sent to the Boys' Industrial school, and Curtis Cotton, another lad, served a jail sentence. A wholesale thieving business seems to have been plying the gang.

Oscar Willett, colored, was indicted for failure to provide for his minor child. He was bound over from Mayor Allen's court, and has been in jail for some three weeks.

The jury visited the county jail and found it in good condition. This time the jury was not discharged, but held to report at any time.

Washingtonians In Jingle Contest

Two of Washington C. H. embryo poets were recognized in the State Journal "Jingle Contest" last Sunday. The Journal pays for the verse that best exploits the merits of its classified advertising.

Mrs. Frank M. Kennedy and Mr. P. C. Harlow were the Washington "Jinglers".

Mrs. Kennedy's rhyme ran:

Ads of all big firms reminds us
 We can help our firm so fine.
 By an ad in the State Journal.
 If we advertise in time.

Mr. Harlow's verse:
 If it is poultry or eggs you have to sell,
 Let the State Journal your story tell.

And if results you do not gain
 There is plenty of time to try again.

THE RIGHT STRIKE.

The willingness which the property owners and business men who met at the Mayor's office Friday night in an effort to devise ways and means for bringing about a cleaner and therefore more healthful condition of affairs in Washington, is gratifying to every resident of the city.

It may be taken as a foregone conclusion that the spirit of earnest co-operation in the crusade against filth which was so prominently in evidence at Friday night's meeting is but a sample of the feeling which exists among property holders and business men generally, and evidences an intention upon the part of those men to take matters into their own hands, which will render the labors of the Board of Health infinitely less burdensome.

Washington people have never been found lacking when the crucial moment arrived and the wide spread, nation wide clean up movement which stopped long enough in this city to let us know that it was passing, has resulted in affirmative action which proves that our people are still on the job.

Washington is not the worst city in this section by long odds, viewed from a sanitary standpoint, but our people are not content with that reputation. It must be either the best or equal to the best if it is possible to make it such.

Not a single man at the meeting Friday night had any serious objection to urge when prominent and interested property owners took the lid off and exposed the purpose of the meeting. Everybody present got in line quickly and willingly and signified his intention of doing all within his power to set a pattern for others to follow by in forming their lines in the big fight for better conditions.

The promised results of that called meeting, the spirit manifested during the discussion, means much of good.

It is more than encouraging. It is positively an enthusiasm builder, and promises to bring prominently to the fore-front that go ahead, do it now spirit which has always been the distinguishing stamp of all of Washington's undertakings.

ADVERTISING TALKS.

No. 1. In Which We Get Acquainted.

By Henry Herbert Huff.

"Hello, Mr. Business Man! And how is trade?"

"Improving."

"I'm glad to hear it. Oh, we'll have things moving nicely pretty soon. Everybody's optimistic down our way. Got nearly an hour yet in town—want to catch that 4:29 out of here. If you're not busy, sit down a few minutes and let's talk things over. Mail order houses bothering any?"

"Yes; they're cutting quite a hole in our trade. Thought that dull spell would fix them, but it didn't here in our town. Never believed they were getting so much business till I was shown the pile of goods from them that arrived on this morning's freight. Some of our best people buying there too. Really I cannot understand why any one should send away and wait several weeks for goods he can buy just as cheaply right here in town."

"Got any soap clubs here?"

"Yes; there are several, and it does beat all how those premiums take. Looks as though one was getting something for nothing, but he pays for all of it. I can sell the whole assortment for half their list price and premiums. Buy them separate and get what you want. Each of these clubs takes from $100 to $300 worth of business from our town every year."

"And then there's Near City—only twelve miles away, and the fare is 60 cents. Many of our people go there to buy clothing, millinery and the like. Often they pay more than in their home town. We merchants had been charging up the bulk of our lost trade to the mail order houses, but found upon investigation that a large part is going to Near City instead. With our trade leaking out in every conceivable way it seems up to us to take what's left."

"Do you have any trouble with 'leftover' goods?"

"Yes; we lose a lot that way. In summer business goes on a vacation. Most days of the week are pretty slow, too, except Saturday, and that's a hustle, hustle, hustle, all day long. I wish we might shift some of this day's business to the others."

"Mr. Business Man, I've a solution to all of your problems. I can tell you what will hold your trade at home, what will move your slow sellers and remainders, what will make business for you in the dull seasons, what will sell the new and better goods. It's no complicated mystery or trick of magic—just plain ADVERTISING."

"I know you'll say you've tried it without success or that a competitor failed to make it pay or something else, but it resolves itself into this—if you advertise RIGHT, it will PAY you; if you do so in the WRONG way, it will FAIL. Advertising is no child's play—it's a science. A person of average ability can write good copy."

"And now I must be going, but I'll be back next week and every week for several months, and I intend to have a little chat with you each time. I shall first show you how advertising will SOLVE your problems, and then I'm going to tell you how to advertise SUCCESSFULLY."

Whichever is the Big Noise among the nations, it's beginning to look as though Uncle Sam was elected to be the Big Policeman.

These stories that the Morgan-Guggenheim bunch got the soldiers sent to the border do not square with their failure to cop Alaska coal lands.

Surely Japan will not be so unappreciative as to insist on licking us after Taft's publicly calling it "a most progressive and powerful nation".

Gentlemen who are cocksure there'll be a third ticket in the national campaign are safe enough. There were six or seven in the last, but only two of them got any electoral votes.

POETRY FOR TODAY

THE BEAUTY AND THE BOOK.

She was so gentle and so fair
 That just to see her made me glad;
 She spoke of accents sweet and rare,
 And praised the talent that I had;
 The admiration in her look
 Awoke my pride and made me strut;
 I gave to her my latest book,
 Its precious pages still uncut.
 She took it with such pure delight
 That pleasure lingered in my breast,
 I thanked the gods that I could write
 And that the book contained my best;
 She held it as a precious thing—
 Indeed, she pressed it to her heart,
 And set my own heart fluttering
 By sweetly dwelling on my art.

She was so graceful, so sublime
 That I was filled with sudden joy;
 My cares took flight and for a time
 I was again a blushing boy;
 She sweetly spoke about the glee
 That presently should be her own
 In conning my brave lines when she Could be unhindered and alone.

Ah! that was three long years ago!
 I called upon her yesterday;
 My book was on the stand, and so
 I picked it up from where it lay;
 I felt the old joy in my heart,
 The sweet old thrill of boyhood—but
 'Twas doomed to suddenly depart;
 The pages all remained uncut.

LAST OF THE YAQUIS.

Passing of a Once Famous Tribe of Mexican Indians.

All the world has heard of the famous Yaqui Indians of the state of Sonora, Mexico. They are for the most part dwellers in the hills, crudely armed with primitive weapons, but terrific fighters who have more than once decisively beaten the soldiers of Mexico.

Peaceable when undisturbed, fully alive to the richness of their mines and the value of their fertile valleys, they sought only to defend that which was theirs from the grasping hands of those who desired their mines and their lands. Like most aborigines, however, they were doomed from the first. What was at the time of Cortes a tribe of 5,000 strong, able to defy the warriors of Montezuma, has dwindled until there are now not more than 500 souls in the valley of the Yaqui river and in the mountain gorges which wall in the source of this stream.

The bulk of the Yaquis have been wiped out in sanguinary wars or taken prisoners and shot and those for whom no excuse for death could be found have been deported to the fever stricken vales of Yucatan. The Yaquis as a race are no more, but their passing has been made complete only during the past few years. —Wide World Magazine.

Tissot, the Famous French Painter, and His Critic.

An interesting story is told of Jacques Tissot, the great French painter. While in England he painted a beautiful religious picture and, meeting a country woman, asked her opinion of his work. "It's a chef d'oeuvre," she replied, giving a remarkably just and detailed appreciation of the various merits of the really splendid painting.

"Are you satisfied?" asked a friend. Tissot answered in the negative. He entirely repainted his picture, working night and day.

When finished he sent again for his fair critic, who pronounced it admirable and remained silently admiring it with smiling criticism.

"Are you satisfied?" asked the friend again when the lady had departed. "No," replied the artist, and he set to work for the third time.

When the Parisienne saw the new painting she gazed at it for some moments with evident emotion and then, without a word sank softly to her knees and began to pray.

"Are you satisfied now?" whispered the friend, and Tissot said "Yes." —London Saturday Review.

Hannibal's Downfall.

The fate of Hannibal turned upon the result of a promenade. It was after he had crossed the Alps and entered Italy, with winter quarters established at Capua. His residence was one of the best houses in the city, and while walking in the garden he heard a female voice singing not far away. Struck by the tones of the voice, he is sued an order that the singer should be brought before him. He was so greatly impressed by her charms that he at once attached her to his household, disposing of the husband by beheading him. Retribution followed closely upon the cowardly perpetration of the outrage. The balance of the winter was devoted to pleasure, discipline and drills were practically abandoned, and with the advent of spring the Carthaginian army was so demoralized by the dissipation of the city that its prestige was lost, and with it came the downfall of Hannibal.

It is estimated that a flock of 50 hens, when laying freely, will drink from four to eight quarts of water a day, depending upon conditions. A clean, fresh water supply is one of the essentials to successful poultry raising.

The flanks and udders of cows should be clipped in order to facilitate the cleaning of these parts before milking.

The Scrap Book

A Namesake.
 A genial, garrulous old Irishman from the country districts was visiting Dublin for the first time. Taking a seat in a train-car, he found himself next to a stiff and pompous-looking swell. This didn't disconcert Pat in the least, and he commenced a one-sided conversation with his dandified neighbor in a rather free and easy style. At length the mighty one, turning his eye towards him, said:

"SHAKE HANDS, NAME SAKE."
 "My good man, reserve your conversation for one of your own equals. I'd have you know I'm a K. C."

At this the countryman stood up with outstretched hands, exclaiming: "Shake hands, namesake. Begorra, I'm a Casey myself!"

WILL.

There is no chance, no destiny, no fate. Can circumstance or power or control The first resolve of a determined soul? Gifts count for nothing. Will alone is great.

All things give way before it soon or late. What obstacle can stay the mighty force Of the sea seeking river in its course? Or cause the ascending orb of day to wait?

Each well born soul must win what it deserves. Let the fool prate of luck. The fortunate is he whose earnest purpose never swerves. Whose slightest action or inaction serves. The one great aim. Why, even death stands still And waits an hour sometimes for such a will. —Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

Wrong Diagnosis.

A certain high rolling student at Heidelberg was ponderous, bibulous and somewhat stupid. His thirst for knowledge was being quite up to the standard of his thirst for beer.

This student the morning after a corps meeting, a meeting where he had drunk by actual count fifty-three large mugs of beer, awoke to find himself in bed, but half undressed, with his feet resting on the pillow.

From the low footboard the student regarded for a moment his large feet propped side by side on the white pillow. Then he muttered:

"Himmel! Here I've been thinking all night that I had the toothache, and it's my shoes that have been pinching me!"

CHARGE WAS DOUBLED ROBERT SMITH AND MRS. CHESTNUT DRAW HEAVY SENTENCES

Charged by James Whelpley With Selling Property on Which He Held a Mortgage They Were Arrested in a Hut Near Paint Chapel, Brought Here and Plead Guilty to Another Charge—Heavy Fine and Workhouse Sentence.

Last night Officer Haggard, armed with an affidavit filed by James Whelpley, charging the selling of property upon which he held a mortgage, drove out to the McCoy farm seven miles north of this city, near Paint Chapel and brought back Mrs. George Chestnut and Robert Smith, who have been living together as man and wife for some time.

In addition to the charge against them, an affidavit was filed against both Smith and the woman, charging them with unlawfully living together as man and wife. Both entered a plea of guilty to the charge, and Smith was given $200 and costs and an additional 60 days in the workhouse and the woman received a fine of $200 and costs, and stands committed to the workhouse until the fine is paid.

Both parties are now in jail, and Smith will be removed to the Xenia workhouse in the morning. The woman, owing to her condition, will probably be removed to the County Infirmary to be taken care of for a time, and the sentence will be suspended.

Smith and the woman have been living together for some time, and in the little hut with them were John E. Puckett and Chas. Sprouse, and Wm. Smith the latter having left Monday. Officer Haggard reached the place about nine o'clock Monday night, called Smith out and placed him under arrest, following the action with arrest of the woman a few minutes later. He arrived in this city with his prisoners about 11:30, and they were locked in the county jail.

The woman has a bad reputation, and is very much infatuated with Smith. During the hearing she dramatically exclaimed: "I'd go to hell for Smith!"

Smith has been in trouble before, and until a few weeks ago lived in the Persinger property on Fayette street in this city.

Senator Coke L. Doster Files His Protest

Yesterday Senator Coke L. Doster from this district, filed formal protest against the action of the Senate last Thursday morning, in sending the Russell Central Board bill to conference.

Senator Doster has proven himself a strong man in debate, and his energetic work has won him many friends and likewise made him some enemies.

In his protest Senator Doster holds that the minority was not treated fairly, and that owing to the bulldozing methods used the action on the bill should be void.

Among other things he called attention to the fact that the Senate was to meet at 10 o'clock, and while everyone was present except the Cuyahoga Senators, the chair failed to call the session to order until 10:45.

BAFFLED THE INDIANS.

An Old Army Paymaster's Safe That Was Apache Proof.

Years ago in the west, when the government sent out safes for the use of its army paymasters in remote districts, it was the custom for the paymaster in cavalry service to ride in an ambulance with the safe, escorted by a guard of six mounted men.

On one occasion such a guard was attacked by a large force of Apache Indians. Two men were killed, and the Indians captured the ambulance with the safe. This safe contained about $8,000 in greenbacks, and it weighed some 400 pounds and had a combination lock.

Now, the Indians in question had never seen a safe at close quarters until this one happened along, but they knew that it contained money; also they wanted that money.

They first pounded off the knob with stones, under the impression that the door could then be pried open. Their attempt was, of course, a failure. The next step was to try their tomahawks on the chilled steel in the hope that a hole might be cut in it. This means, too, proved of no avail, so they determined to try fire. Accordingly they gave the safe a three hour roasting. Luckily for the government, it was fireproof. They threw big rocks upon it while it was hot, but they were as far from the money as ever.

Next the Apaches dragged the safe up the side of a mountain and tumbled it over a precipice 200 feet high. They expected, of course, to see it burst open, but the only damage was a slight injury to one of the wheels. The safe was left soaking in the river for three or four days, and great was the Indians' disappointment at finding themselves still baffled.

Then they tried gunpowder; but, knowing nothing of the art of blasting, they brought about an explosion that burned half a dozen warriors and left the safe none the worse.

The Indians worked over that safe off and on for a month or more, but failed to get at the inside. Finally, in disgust, they left it in a deep ravine.

Fourteen months later, when peace came, the army accidentally found the safe. It was lying in the bed of a creek with a great pile of driftwood around it. It was a sad looking safe, but when opened showed its contents intact.—Harper's Weekly.

The Sara Kabbah Fashion.

The Sara Kabbah people of central Africa adopt the hideous fashion of wearing large wooden disks in the lips, the one in the upper lip about three inches in diameter and that in the lower six inches. "These ornaments," says Mr. Karl W. Kumm in "From Hausaland to Egypt," "restrain the wearers from prolonged conversation. One of the chiefs, when I asked him the reason why they disfigured their women, informed me that their forefathers had developed this habit in order that the women might exercise no attractions for the Moslem slave raiders."

Warning a Serpent.

Down in Bermuda Mark Twain made a speech about snakes to a group of little girls. The speech was great. The only trouble was that the little girls could not appreciate it. It flew over their heads. This was the humorist's conclusion: "Never warn a serpent in your bosom. It is far easier to warn it by placing it under the pillow of an intimate friend."—Harper's Weekly.

ENGINEER R. C. HUNT UNDERTAKES IMMENSE WORK WILL BUILD B. & O. TUNNEL

Left Monday Night for Connellsville Pa., Where the Big Contract Undertaken By a Special Company of Eastern Capitalists Will Occupy at Least Two Years Time — Gigantic Undertaking Will be Supervised by Washington Man.

Mr. R. C. Hunt left Monday evening for Connellsville, Pa., where he will assume the management of the building of an immense tunnel on the B. & O. railroad. The magnitude of the work can be appreciated when it is known that the tunnel cannot be completed in less than two years.

For several weeks Mr. Hunt has been in the East most of the time in consultation with capitalists and Chief Engineer Stewart, of the B. & O. The result was the formation of the "H. S. Kerbaugh Company," an incorporated company, for the purpose of handling big railroad contracts, of which Gen. Barkley Parsons, the originator of the New York subway, is President.

Mr. Hunt was connected with Mr. Parsons in the building of the New York subway and his marked ability shown in the engineering of this mammoth tunnel, as well as his recognized standing in his chosen profession of expert civil engineer, led to his being solicited to become a member of the newly organized firm.

For many years Mr. Hunt was engaged in large surveying expeditions including the building of several railroad lines in South American states, and also in the Orient, that kept him constantly away, so when he completed the subway contract he intended to give up civil engineering work and enjoy a period of home life.

It is quite a surprise to his friends in consequence that he is again involved in a big contract that will keep him away from his home town most of the next two years.

The new company is a strong one, with progressive capitalists at its head and the inducements offered were too tempting to be withstood by a man of Mr. Hunt's temperament and talent.

The present contract for the B. & O. tunnel at Connellsville was let on bids, the new company winning in their first opportunity.

Mr. Hunt will be actively in charge, the work to be begun at once.

Mrs. Hunt expects to continue her home at the Imperial Hotel for the present, joining her husband at intervals.

PECK'S BAD BOY.

Ex-Governor George W. Peck, of Wisconsin, apparently made a lasting monument to his memory when he created the juvenile sketches which have resulted in "Peck's Bad Boy," the attraction at the Empire Thursday.

Mr. Peck's administration in Wisconsin was a notable one, but it has passed into oblivion, comparatively speaking, during the years which the Bad Boy has been prospering.

This season the old favorite comedy is under the personal management and direction of Mr. James Marron, and the success with which it is meeting everywhere is the best tribute to Mr. Marron's ability as a producer. The company is conceded to be the liveliest and best which has ever handled the play.

BIG LOSS TO OHIO FARMERS

Planting of Poor Seed Corn This Spring Will Reduce Crop Yield.

A GERMINATION TEST SHOULD BE MADE OF EVERY EAR

BY T. L. WHEELER,

Extension Department, College of Agriculture, Ohio State University, Columbus.

If every ear of corn planted in Ohio this spring were to produce four dollars in actual money, it is very likely the people who plant corn would make a great effort to have every ear grow. But why should seed that is to produce corn be treated any different from what it would be were it to produce actual money? A good corn crop, in saleable condition, represents money to the farmer.

One ear of corn of average size has about 800 grains, each of which should produce a stalk bearing an ear. This would mean 800 ears, or about eight bushels, which at 50 cents a bushel would sell for $4.00. Not counting the labor of caring for the crop, that is what each ear of seed corn is worth. It requires just as much labor to plant a poor ear of corn as it does to plant a good ear, and the poor one does not give anything in return for the time and work.

The time for planting corn will soon be here. Will your seed corn grow? Have you tested it? The Ohio Experiment Station has been making an investigation of the seed corn in Ohio and finds that the range of germination is from 45 to 96 per cent, much seed which has been handled with considerable care showing below 50 per cent. Such a state of affairs will result in very poor and uneven stands, unless every ear planted is tested to determine whether it will grow. The Station warns corn growers that the situation is made, being simply a box, 20 by 30 inches, and about 2 or 3 inches deep, inside measurements. Fill this box nearly full with moist sand and then stretch cords over the top, each way, so as to form squares two inches across. These cords can be fastened to nails driven in the sides of the box. Small wires instead of cords will make the tester more permanent. These squares can be numbered, as shown in the cut, and the numbers made to correspond with the ears to be tested.

To make the test, number the ears consequently, then remove six kernels from each ear, as shown in figure 2. To remove the kernels, use a pocket knife. Insert the knife blade at the edge of the kernel, and pry it out. (See figure 2.) Begin near the butt of the ear, remove one kernel, then turn the ear a little and remove another kernel a little further down, thus going around the ear in a spiral, so that the sixth kernel is taken from near the tip, about in line with the one removed from the butt. Place these six kernels, germ up, in the square in the germinator corresponding with the number of the ear, and lay the ear away. Handle each ear in a similar manner. After the kernels are placed in the tester spread two thicknesses of heavy white muslin, or any tightly woven cloth, that has been dipped in water, over the corn, and on top of this an inch of moist sand. Then set the tester where there will be a good growing temperature, care being taken not to have it too warm. If the proper heat and moisture are maintained, the corn will have sprouted enough in five days to enable one to pick out the good ears. If in any square all the grains do not grow, or they show low vitality, the corresponding ear should be discarded. The ears that show perfect germination are then ready for the field, except for machine planting, the irregular sized kernels at the tips and butts should be graded out and discarded. Don't plant dead seed corn, it will not grow.

without a parallel in recent years, and should cause no little concern. The Agronomy Department, of the College of Agriculture, Ohio State University, finds, in its investigations, that the germination this spring runs from 40 to 100 per cent, with an average of from 70 to 75 per cent. Is your corn in the 100 per cent class, in the average class, or does it rank down in the 40 per cent?

The man who follows the practice of going to the crib and selecting his seed corn just before planting will have a poor chance of getting a good crop this season, unless he tests every ear and plants only that which will grow. E. H. Culver, chief grain inspector of the Toledo grain market, writes the Agricultural Extension Department as follows: "Seed corn in a frightful condition. We are receiving it every day, and it is from 13 to 18 per cent cooked grains, besides this they are milled up and rotten in the chip." This refers to the condition of the average crib corn. Are you selecting your seed from this kind of corn?

If you have not tested your seed corn, do it now. Make a tester, like the one shown in the accompanying illustration (Figure 1). It is easily

7% AND SAFETY

If you have $100.00, $200.00, $500.00, a $1000.00 or more, that you would invest where it would provide a maximum income immediately, this should interest you.

The Case Crane Company of Columbus, Ohio, manufacturers of electric cranes and hoists, with lifting capacities from one to one hundred and fifty tons, is offering a limited amount of 7% First Mortgage 20-year Gold Bonds, in denominations of $500.00, and a limited amount of 7% cumulative preferred stock, non-taxable, in shares of $100.00 each, with interest and dividends payable quarterly.

They have a large plant in full operation within ten minutes of the heart of the city, established in 1880, located on the Pennsylvania and B. & O. R. R., and they are supplying such Companies as the United States Steel Corporation (Gary plant), The General Electric Company, The Republic Iron & Steel Company, Youngstown, Ohio; The Pennsylvania R. R., The New York Central R. R., and hundreds of others.

Contrary to the usual plan, they are not going to one or a group of financiers, but are going direct to the private investor, believing that by having a great many stockholders in all walks of life, all over the country, directly interested in the Company, their prestige will be greater and their business accordingly increased.

This is a safe investment. First, because the assets of the Company are more than double the authorized bond issue.

Second, because the Company is doing a large, profitable, and increasing business.

Third, because the profits from the sale of repair parts alone are sufficient to pay the interest on the authorized bond issue.

Fourth, because the business of the Company has never been affected by business depressions.

Fifth, because the demand for electric cranes manufactured by this Company is increasing daily.

Write The Case Crane Company, Columbus, Ohio, for any additional information you may want.

KEEN INGENUITY OF A BOOK AGENT.

Quick Witted Salesman Turns a Triple Trick.

Attorney General Wickersham at a dinner said apropos of certain law-makers:

"Their ingenuity passes all belief. They are worse than the Cohoes book agent."

A Cohoes man on the way to the railroad station one morning was halted by a book agent, and being a great reader, he bought a book for $5.

"It will be something to read on the train," he thought as he gave his name and accepted a receipt.

"It is a dull book, however, and the Cohoes man left it at his office. But on his return home that evening there was another copy on the library table, and his wife explained that the agent had left it and had collected $5, saying that such were her husband's orders."

"The Cohoes man was wild with rage. 'If I had that agent here,' he growled, 'I'd kill him dastardly bound that—'

"Why, there he goes now," cried his wife—look, hurrying down the street toward the station."

"The Cohoes man rushed upstairs for his coat and shoes, but while he was dressing a neighbor came along in a motorcar. He halted the neighbor from the window."

"Hurry down to the station and hold up that chap for me," he cried—'that chap with books! See?'

"Sure," said the obliging neighbor, and he put on full speed and soon reached the agent."

"That man up there on the hill wants you," he said.

"Oh, yes," said the agent as the train steamed in. "That's Dr. Smith. He wants one of my books. Do you mind taking it for him? It's $5, please."

"Then the train steamed off with the agent on it, and the motorist sped back to Smith again."

"Here's your book," he shouted, holding it stiff, and you owe me $5!" Philadelphia Bulletin.

SMART SHOES FOR LITTLE FOLKS.

New Styles Are Sensible as Well as Pretty

Fashions for little folks' footwear are nothing if not extreme this year. Boots are to be as high as those affected by their mothers and aunts, but should boots not be wished there is nothing but the lowest cut sandals or ankle ties, as the latter used to be called.

As orthopedics are more and better understood by parents there are fewer children seen wearing low shoes through the day. They may wear sandals for a time and even go barefooted to strengthen foot cords and muscles, but so called "low" shoes are thought to have nothing to recommend them. They neither support the ankle nor permit the instep sufficient play to develop strength, and so it is that that style of shoe is passing into limbo.

A parent who disapproves of her children habitually wearing sandals, believing that the latter tend to undue enlargement of the ankle, may console herself with the fact that the delicate bones of the foot gather strength in greater proportion than the ankle enlarges and that shapeliness in later years will be greater in consequence.

Very high button boots are to be worn by little children in the afternoon as well as morning. The cut is considered quite the acme of fashion, and if wished a silk tassel of the same color may depend from the very top of the middle front seam. This was a fad very popular many years ago.

White and all the delicate colors are shown in these boots, kid, of course, being dressier than canvas.

White stockings with black ankle ties are always good form. The narrow band of kid which holds on such slippers does not come over the instep, but is part of the back, passing around the ankle. It fastens with one button.

At the top of the vamp is the tiniest rosette or bow, with a microscopic steel buckle if one wishes.

Bordered Fabrics. The return of the bordered fabric is one of the modish occurrences on which we can generally rely each spring. The offering in some of the spring and summer goods is beautiful.

George Sand.

It was from Leonard Jules Sandeau, the celebrated French novelist and dramatist, born at Aubusson a century ago, that another and far greater writer derived her nom de guerre. When a young student in Paris Sandeau made the acquaintance of Mme. Dudevant, and during a short lived friendship they collaborated in a novel, "Rose et Blanche," which was published in 1831. Then they parted, but Mme. Dudevant, while relinquishing Sandeau's friendship, took to herself a portion of his name and elected to be known thenceforth as George Sand—Pall Mall Gazette.

PLAYING A WITNESS. Methods of Two Famous Cross Examiners of the Irish Bar. Two famous cross examiners at the Irish bar, says Francis L. Wellman in "The Art of Cross Examination," were Sergeant Sullivan, afterward master of the rolls in Ireland, and Sergeant Armstrong. Barry O'Brien in his "Life of Lord Russell" describes their methods with perjured witnesses. "Sullivan," he says, "approached the witness quite in a friendly way, seemed to be an impartial inquirer seeking information, looked surprised at what the witness said, appeared even grateful for the additional light thrown on the case."

"Ah, indeed? Well, as you have said so much perhaps you can help us a little further. Well, really, my lord, this is a very intelligent man."

"So playing the witness with caution and skill, drawing him stealthily on, keeping him completely in the dark about the real point of attack, the little sergeant waited until the man was in the meshes and then flew at him and shook him as a terrier would a rat."

"The big sergeant (Armstrong) had more humor and more power, but less dexterity and resource. His great weapon was ridicule. He laughed at the witness and made everybody else laugh. The witness got confused and lost his temper, and then Armstrong pounded him like a champion in the ring."

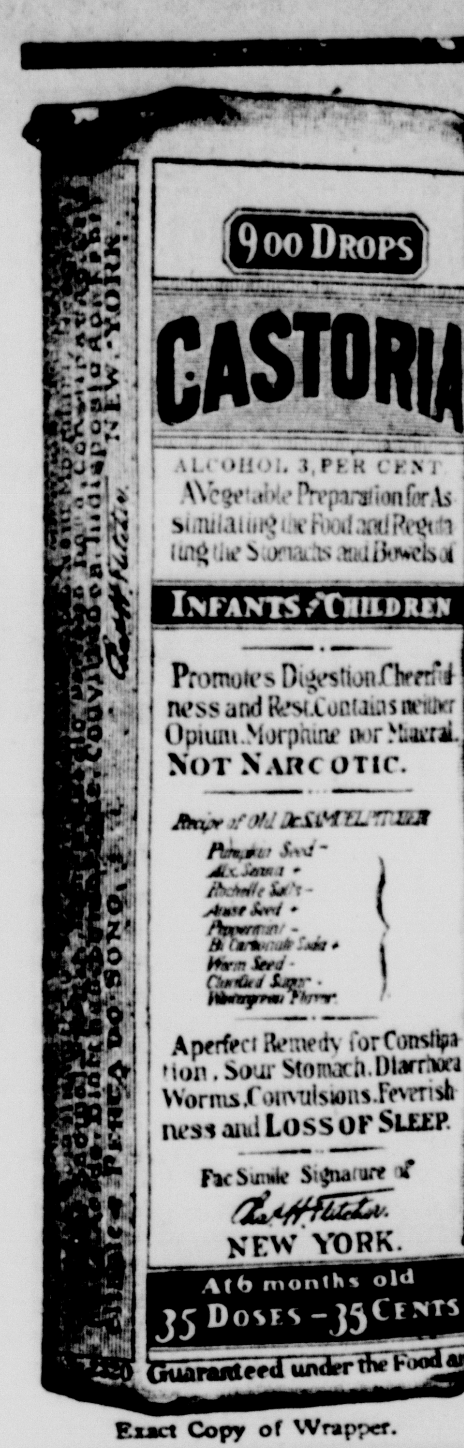

Midnight in The Ozarks

and yet sleepless Hiram Scranton, of Clay City, Ill., coughed and coughed. He was in the mountains on the advice of five doctors, who said he had consumption, but found no help in the climate, and started home. Hearing of Dr. King's New Discovery, he began to use it. "I believe it saved my life," he writes "for it made a new man of me, so that I can now do good work again."
